UNITED NATIONS SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

By P. Madhu Babu, Ist B.Com(EM) General

The sustainable development goals or the global goals are a collection of 17 SDGs designed to be a blueprint to achieve a better and more sustainable future for all. The SDGs are setup by the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) and are intended to be achieved by 2030. They are included in the UNGA Resolutions called as 2030 Agenda and what is colloquially called as “AGENDA 2030”. These are designed to succeed the Millennium Development Goals which ended in 2015. The goals are broad and interdependent. The UNGA resolution identified specific targets for each goal along with indicators that are being used to measure progress towards each target. To facilitate monitoring, a variety of tools exist to track the progress towards the goals. The SDGs pay attention to multiple cross-cutting issues like the gender equality , education and culture, cut across all of the SDGs.

The 17 Sustainable Development Goals are

1. No Poverty	9. Industry Innovation & Infrastructure
2. Zero Hunger	10. Reduced inequalities
3. Good Health and Wellbeing	11. Sustainable cities and Communities
4. Quality Education	12. Responsible Consumption and Production
5. Gender Equality	13. Climate Action
